9 Santa's Christmas

If it was Christmas Eve today, what would you wish Santa Claus to bring you as a gift?

It was a beautiful December day, with clear blue skies and snow-covered treetops. Christmas was in the air! But up in Santa's lodge, all was quiet. The usual hustle and bustle of preparing Christmas gifts was missing. Santa had fallen ill.

'Oh dear! What will the children say when they don't receive Christmas gifts this year?' Santa wondered sadly as he lay in his bed.

Suddenly, he heard a noise from outside. He looked out of the window and saw his four reindeer standing patiently as usual. But they seemed quite out of breath, as if they had just finished a long trip.

As Santa took a closer look, he could not believe what he saw. For, behind the reindeer was a long train of sleds, carrying little children dressed in different colours. One by one, they hopped out onto the snow and headed towards Santa's lodge.

Soon, there was a knock on the door. 'Come in!' Santa called out, for he was extremely curious. In came a little girl, hugging something soft in her arms. 'I heard that you were sick, Mr Santa,' she began. 'So I'm giving you my teddy bear, to keep you company.' 'Why, thank you, little Emma!' said Santa, for he knew every child by name.

Then a young boy entered with a red package in his arms. 'We knew that you were ill, Papa Santa,' he said. 'So my family knitted this quilt for you, to keep you warm in the winter days.' 'Why, what a wonderful thought, Paul!' beamed Santa, patting him on the head.

And one by one the children came in through Santa's door, each with a special gift to wish Santa well. There were cookies, pies, socks, mittens, books, jigsaw puzzles and even a small Christmas tree!

'Christmas delivered to my doorstep!' exclaimed Santa. 'Come, let us all share these wonderful gifts.' And he gathered the children around him in a big circle.

'Santa, which present do you like best?' Emma soon piped up. 'My dear little ones,' Santa replied, smiling. 'It is the love and kindness that each of you have shown to me today that is the best present of all.' He looked fondly at all the children around him. 'This, my little ones, is the true meaning of Christmas.' And with that, Santa gave each of the children a big, warm holiday hug.

Tenali And The Thieves

Tenali Raman, a famous minister in the court of Sri Krishnadeva Raya of Vijayanagar city, was known for his wit and sense of humour. Once there were so many thefts in the city that the people became very alert. One night, before going to bed, Tenali saw some thieves hiding behind the bushes near his house. He understood that the thieves were planning to rob his home that night. He thought of teaching them a lesson. He called his wife and whispered a plan in her ear.

wit

ability to use words in a clever way

alert

quick to notice and respond to danger.

teach a lesson to punish someone for doing something bad so that they don't repeat it

whisper

to speak very softly

the quality of being amusing

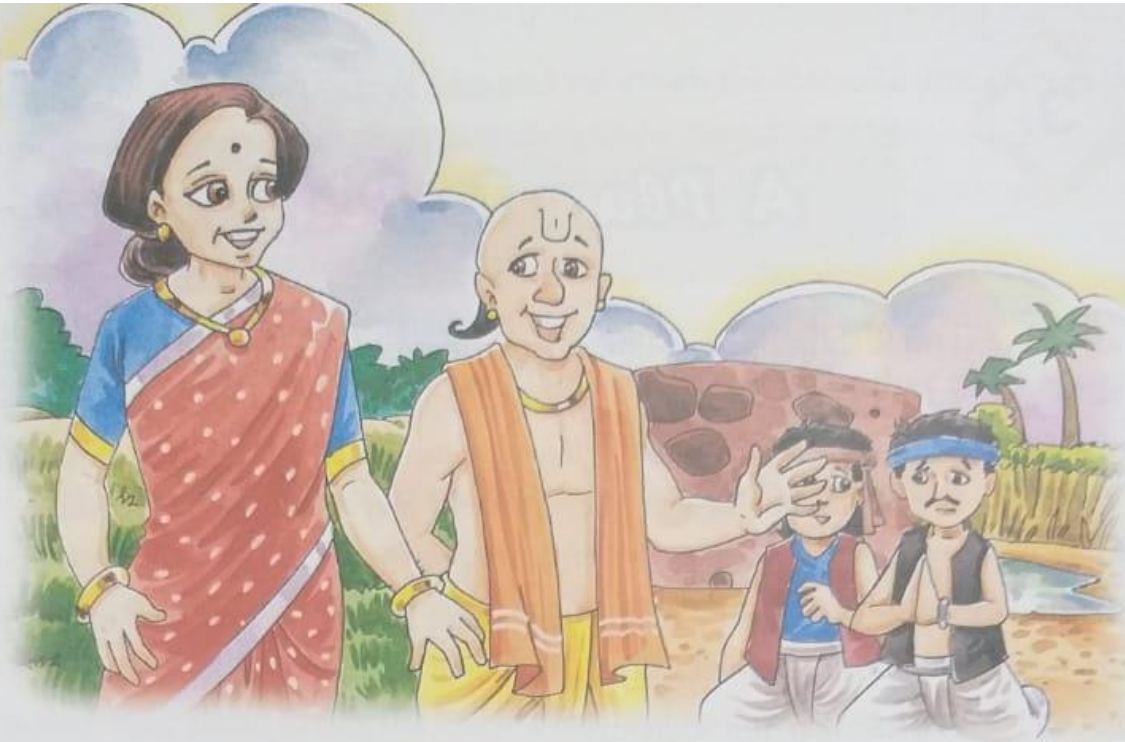

After a while, the thieves who were still hiding outside, heard Tenali say loudly to his wife, "Dear, be careful and lock all the doors and windows as lot of robberies are taking place in the city these days. I have put all our jewels in this box, so help me carry it to the well behind our house. We will throw it into the well to hide it. The thieves would never come to know about them this way."

The thieves heard all this and they saw Tenali and his wife throw a box into the well. Actually Tenali had filled the box with stones. Then Tenali and his wife went into their house and closed all the doors and windows.

The thieves were happy. They were soon going to be rich. They started to fill one bucket after another from the well to get to the box. They spent the whole night in drawing water and kept pouring it in Tenali's garden. Early in the morning, Tenali came to the well and saw that the thieves were still drawing out water. Tenali smiled at them and said, "Thank you friends, for watering my plants so well. What must I pay you for your labour?"

Hearing this, the thieves fell at Tenali's feet and begged for forgiveness. Tenali let them go when they promised not to steal or rob anyone ever again.

High Five

We can use our intelligence to deal with a difficult situation.

Suggested Theme Based Activity

Work is worship. The fruit of hard work and the success thus gained, is much sweeter than the riches acquired by stealing. To honour the efforts of all those who work hard and to acknowledge the dignity of labour, we celebrate 'Labour Day' on May 1 every year.

'OUR HELPERS'

Each child should dress up as any helper, for example, postman, driver, policeman, guard etc. and speak a few words about the character being portrayed.

LET US DISCUSS

1. Tenali Raman was a minister in which king's court?
2. Why did Tenali speak loudly to his wife about his plan to hide the jewels in the box?
3. What did he actually put in the box?
4. What did Tenali say to the thieves in the morning?
