Identify country's needs and make innovations, PM Modi tells IIT students

Focus on quality and ensure adaptability, PM Modi tells IIT students

Addressing the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Delhi's convocation, Prime Minister Narendra Modi recently said technology would be playing the biggest role in the post-COVID world and that virtual reality and augmented reality had now become the working reality.

PM Modi also emphasized on innovations on a mass scale and focus on quality ensuring reliability and adaptability.

"Focus on quality — never compromise, ensure scalability — make your innovations work at a mass scale, assure reliability — build long-term trust in the market and bring in adaptability — be open to change and expect uncertainty as a way of life. If we work on these mantras, then it will reflect the country's product and will get global recognition."

The pandemic has taught that while globalization is important, self-reliance is equally important, Mr. Modi said.

Speaking about the ease of doing business, Mr. Modi said, “You [students] have one job. If the government gives you ease of doing business, then you bring in new innovations to give the poorest people the ease of living. Be it the technology industry or the agricultural sector, innovations are happening in all sectors today.”
